U. S. LEGATION AT LISBON ATTACKED

Prohibition Issue May Be Injected Into 1928 Presidential Campaign

MINISTER OF THIS NATION ABANDONS POST

Portuguese Revolution Is Reported to Be Sweeping Nation

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The American legation at Lisbon, Portugal, has been abandoned by Fred Morris Dearing, American minister, and the legation staff, due to the revolution now raging, the state department announced today.

Rifle and machine gun fire has swept the building, it was reported.

The cablegram from Minister Dearing said:

"The situation at Lisbon is very serious and will probably continue so for several days."

"The minister has been obliged to abandon the legation which was repeatedly struck by rifle and machine gun fire."

Minister Dearing did not say where he had taken refuge.

REVOLUTION SPREADS

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Messages received from Lisbon via the frontier and from Madrid and Paris indicate that the Portuguese revolt is far from being suppressed, in fact it is spreading, according to dispatches received by the Central News.

The entire country is said to be in a state of turmoil now. Sailors who mutinied in the harbor of Lisbon are reported to have occupied several quarters of the capital. Lisbon is said to be in the full throes of the revolution.

According to arresting officers they purchased a pint of "jackass" liquor from Martini. He was released on bail last night declaring that he would pay his fine this morning.

After undergoing an operation in an Oakland hospital several days ago, Mrs. Lester Kerfoot, Richmond health center nurse, returned to her duties yesterday. A serious infection developed in her face which necessitated the operation.

Bank of Italy Seeking Permit for Banks Here

TWO BANKS ARE BEING PLANNED

An application asking for permits to establish a branch bank at Eleventh street and Macdonald avenue and another at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue, has been filed by the Bank of Italy with the state superintendent of banks, it was revealed yesterday by Will C. Wood, head of the state banking department.

It is rumored that owners of property in these locations have been approached with regard to the lease or sale of their holdings. Mrs. Adolph Winters, wife of the owner of the building on the northwest corner of Macdonald avenue and Eleventh street, stated that a man had inquired concerning a possible lease or sale of the building. Nothing definite was submitted in the way of a proposition.

Owners of the Hinkelman building at the southeast corner of Macdonald avenue and Eleventh street, stated that they too had been approached. The Quality Market occupies the building at present.

Nothing is known as to whether the Bank of Italy intends to purchase or erect a building at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue.

It will be some time before the applications are acted upon, Wood said, inasmuch as other business requires his attention before the petition can be considered.

Gets $11,500 For Loss Of Left Leg

Damages for $11,500 were awarded Marcus B. Soria, former Cowell Cement company employee, in Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie's court, Monday night, for the loss of his left leg in an accident at the company's Cowell plant in 1925.

Soria charged negligence on the part of the Cowell Portland Cement company and sued for $65,000. He stated that no insurance was carried on employees, and no certificate was provided to self insure. The case which would have normally appeared before the State Accident commission resulted, for these reasons, in a damage action.

Soria asked for $35,000 for the loss of his leg and $30,000 for loss of ability to follow gainful employment.

A verdict was reached after one and one half hours of deliberation. A motion for a new trial was presented by attorneys of the Cowell company, and will be heard by Judge McKenzie sometime next week.

Struck By Auto As He Alights From Car

W. C. Veltz, 300 Madera avenue, Oakland, suffered slight bruises last night when he was struck by an automobile driven by P. M. Neville, 475 Carlson street, at Twenty-first street and Nevin avenue. According to a report made to police, Neville was driving west on Macdonald when Veltz alighted from a street car. Although Veltz was knocked to the ground his injuries did not require medical attention.

Mount Denies Local Plans

Although A. J. Mount of the Bank of Italy in charge of the banks of this district for the company denied to the RECORD-HERALD last night that the Bank of Italy was seeking to enter this city it was established that applications for the franchise in this city had been on file at the State Banking office for some time. The state department announced that it would probably be some time before the permits would be considered due to the large amount of business before it.

Mount stated that although the Bank of Italy was not considering the local field at this time it might enter the city at some future date. He declared that the request for a charter might be from the Liberty Bank of America. It was definitely established however that the applications were made by the Bank of Italy.

Breuner Company Buys Richmond Furniture Co.

CARTER SELLS OUT INTEREST

An old established furniture company yesterday located in Richmond after negotiations which have been pending for some time. The John Breuner company, which has stores in Sacramento, Stockton and Oakland, purchased the Richmond Furniture company on Tenth street between Macdonald and Nevin avenues.

The Richmond Furniture company has been conducted for three years under the able management of Harley Carter. Carter has taken a position with the sales department of the Premier Bed and Spring company of Seattle and will represent the firm in Washington and Oregon.

Louis F. Breuner, head of the firm, stated that the full advantage of service which has made the Breuner company well known along the Pacific Coast would be extended to the Richmond store.

"It is our intention to work together with all agencies here for the building up of Richmond," stated Breuner. "Our store here is a Richmond store and we intend to join in with the city in the very large development which we foresee for its future."

The Breuner company was one of the first furniture establishments in California. The first store was opened in Sacramento in 1858, and the concern has steadily grown in prestige and efficiency.

Carter expressed regret for having to leave Richmond.

"I am truly sorry to leave Richmond," stated Carter yesterday. "My years in business here have brought me many friendships which I cherish, but I have the satisfaction of knowing that the business which I helped to build up, is going into hands which will further its development in many ways."

Operate On Bengley For Heard Wound

George Bengley, local police officer, underwent a serious operation at the Hahnemann hospital in San Francisco yesterday morning for injuries received when he was shot by Roland Heard on the morning of October 10, after Heard had killed his brother-in-law, Herbert Vestal, at his Fifth street home.

A piece of lead, a portion of the rifle bullet with which Heard shot Bengley, was removed from over the left eye. The wound inflicted by the murderer who later committed suicide plowed a furrow from Bengley's forehead to the back of his head, grazing the skull.

The wound was not considered serious by doctor's at the time and Bengley was about again in a few days after the incident. Of late, however, the healed wound has been bothering the officer considerably and he submitted to the operation yesterday morning.

After scraping the bone of the skull the physicians grafted pieces of bone on the wound. The operation, although a delicate one, was declared entirely successful by attending physicians and Bengley will be able to leave the hospital within a few days it was reported.

Statement That Coolidge Will Not Run Causes Capitol Gossip

Dr. Butler's Statement Provokes Debate in Washington

(By Universal Service)
By JAMES R. NOURSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Political leaders in Washington took immediate notice today of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler's assertion that President Coolidge will not seek re-election in 1928 and that only a candidate of pronounced "west" tendencies has any chance of election.

Dr. Butler's statement provided the Capitol cloak-rooms with the choicest morsel of gossip they have had in many days. It provoked a sharp debate among Democrats in the senate. It also was the subject of comment by a number of Republican senators, prominent among whom were Borah of Idaho, who is credited with an ambition to get the nomination for himself, Gillette of Massachusetts, and Moses of New Hampshire.

Coolidge Mum

President Coolidge himself declined to comment on Dr. Butler's prediction. More than a dozen written questions were submitted to the "White House spokesman" at the bi-weekly conference with newspaper correspondents, but all were ignored.

Dr. Butler's standing in the Republican party and the fact that he is regularly a delegate to the national conventions endowed his statement with more than ordinary significance. In addition to this he has been a frequent White House visitor and only a few weeks ago was a week-end guest (Continued on Page 8)

MARTINEZ IS NOW A "CITY"

MARTINEZ, Feb. 8.—Designed to "assuage local pride," a resolution was adopted by the board of trustees of Martinez Monday night to change the municipality's status from "town" to "city."

Citizens of Martinez have recently felt that the progress of the city, was being impeded by the status of "town." The term did not convey to the outside world a true interpretation of the importance of Martinez.

The change made by the trustees will not remove Martinez from the sixth legislative class.

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—"I'm tired of living. Society can get along without me. Send me up for life."

McMurray said he had tried to go straight since his release from prison recently but it was impossible. He had no references and could not get work. He was held without bail for general sessions.

PROTECTION OF AMERICANS IN CHINA ASSURED

Acute Tension is Lifted By Promise of War Lord in China

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Acute tension in official circles over the Chinese situation lifted today upon word that Chang-Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord, has promised full protection to all foreigners residing within the territory controlled by the Peking government.

First Ray of Hope

Coupled with the halting of the Cantonese drive on Shanghai, it gave the first definite hope that thousands of American refugees concentrated at the international settlement there may be spared the horrors of civil warfare without the intervention of foreign armed forces.

As long as one faction dominates Shanghai, officials here are confident that Americans and other foreigners in the international settlement will be amply protected by the Chinese themselves without the aid of foreign military.

The statement of Chang-Tso-Lin was interpreted as an answer to the proposal of Secretary of State Kellogg that the international settlement be removed from the zone of warlike activities by agreement of the Chinese war lords themselves, although no definite reply has been received here.

Officials are hoping that a similar gesture of friendly feeling toward this government will be made by the Cantonese, although the urgency of this has been postponed by their defeat at the hands of the northern war lords.

No Action on Ship Attack

Pending more detailed information from Consul General Lockhart, at Hankow, this government will take no action on the reported attack by Chinese on two American ships, carrying American refugees, down the Yangtze river.

Nothing has been received as yet to indicate whether the attack was made by Cantonese or northern soldiers or by a band of native brigands, who infest the interior region beyond Hankow.

Supreme court must rule if Dickens can testify without being sworn.

THE STATE OF COOLIDGE

Counting the Carolinas and Virginias each twice, there are eleven states in the Union named after persons of Caucasian blood. We ignore instances of personalities concealed in the names derived from Indian sources and obscured in our recollection by the familiarity we have with Minnesota, Missouri and the like.

No living persons except sovereigns of a monarchical system have been honored by the naming of states after them. But one president of the United States has been so honored, and in his case, he was the first president and so worthy, perhaps more than any later ones.

This is to lead up to a question as to the esthetic qualities of Coolidge as the name of a state, as New Mexico proposes.

President Coolidge is still living and serving, and it is for history to pass upon the size of his service. He is a fine man, an able president and a humble citizen in the face of honors and dignities. We doubt that he would like to have a state named after him, for in his modesty, we believe he does not assess himself among the outstanding presidents. He would have no pleasure in giving his name to a state even if the selection was made on the basis of his entirely human and homely virtues rather than his attainments as a statesman.

New Mexico has some excuse for being dissatisfied with its name. More than New York would have although New York's name had a similar origin. New Mexico feels that its identity is sunk in the larger state bearing the unqualified name of Mexico, it wishes to be known not as a state of Mexican people, but as a part of the American United States.

To this writer, who has lived many years in New Mexico, it would be hard to think of the state by another name, but if the New Mexicans want a change, we are for them.

Health authorities say that New York is the "chillblain" city. But you can get other things there which are almost as painful.

Remember the good old days when the only persons on the baseball field ever accused of being crooked were the umpires?

France is going to celebrate officially the centenary of Beethoven which is another indication that the war is over.

A physician says that the lipstick which the girls use attracts microbes. Especially the kind with wide pants and patent leather hair.

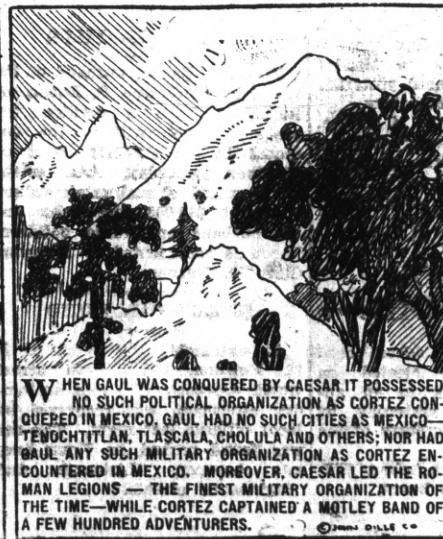

Men Who Made the World FERNANDO CORTEZ By Dr. Elliot Shoring, the Noted Historian

IN SAYING FAREWELL TO FERNANDO CORTEZ, IT SEEMS FITTING TO COMMENT BRIEFLY ON HIS PERSONALITY AND OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENTS. AS WE HAVE SEEN, HE WAS A MAN OF MEDIUM HEIGHT, DEEP-CHESTED, OF SERIOUS EXPRESSION, HIS HAIR AND BEARD WERE DARK AND SCANTY. FROM BOYHOOD HE WAS TRAINED TO ARMS AND WAS AN EXPERT SWORDSMAN EQUALLY AT HOME ON HIS FEET OR IN THE SADDLE. CORTEZ WAS ALWAYS IN COMMAND OF HIMSELF; HIS SPEECH WAS CALM EVEN IN A CRISIS. HE WAS NEVER PROFANE AND EXHIBITED TEMPER ONLY THROUGH MOUNTING COLOR AND SWELLING VEINS OF HIS FOREHEAD.

WHEN CIRCUMSTANCES PERMITTED, HE DRESSED WITH GREAT CARE, BUT WITHOUT EXCESS OF ORNAMENT. THE MAGNETIC PERSONALITY, OVERPOWERING WILL, AND FAR-SEEING STRATEGIC OF CORTEZ MADE EVERY MAN SENT TO OVERTHROW OR SUBDUCE HIM PLAYTHINGS IN HIS HANDS. THE STORY OF THE EVENTS OF HIS LIFE, AS TOLD IN HIS OWN LETTERS TO CHARLES V., HAS BEEN FAVORABLY COMPARED WITH THE REMARKABLE COMMENTARIES OF JULIUS CAESAR ON HIS CAMPAIGN IN GAUL.

WHEN GAUL WAS CONQUERED BY CAESAR IT POSSESSED NO SUCH POLITICAL ORGANIZATION AS CORTEZ CONQUERED IN MEXICO. GAUL HAD NO SUCH THINGS AS MEXICO—TEMOCHTITLAN, TLASCALA, CHOLULA AND OTHERS; NOR HAD GAUL ANY SUCH MILITARY ORGANIZATION AS CORTEZ EN-COUNTERED IN MEXICO. MOREOVER, CAESAR LED THE ROMAN LEGIONS—THE FINEST MILITARY ORGANIZATION OF THE TIME—WHILE CORTEZ CAPTAINED A MOTLEY BAND OF A FEW HUNDRED ADVENTURERS.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.
The Parent Counsellor

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamp, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

Dear Twenty-Nine:
Does the modern girl need to be? Yet gods and cypars, what a question! What do you mean? Does she need to be popular or to be normal?

For the fun of it, take the first angle. And then you have to divide us girls into age groups, not by the calendar but by experience, outlook and environment. And then you also have to include our social life. Does it provide us with wholesome sports and amusements, or does their lack need the substitute of petting. What kinds of men or boys are our companions, and do they, too, have a nice background which gives them a power to express themselves wholesomely? Or is their social out-look narrowed to petting?

Then there is the instinct to be affectionate, to be petted and made over. Can thoughtfulness and consideration take the place of physical demonstration? I think of the emotional life as a creative force which produces fine art, wonderful music, stirring poetry, splendid novels. The price of popularity depends upon the kind of man one goes with, what his standards are, whether he demands fine and normal emotional expressions, or cheap, and eventually harmful, expressions. And the kind of man a girl goes with depends upon her standards. The hygiene and ethics of the question ask, "Should a girl treat petting as the average man does, not seriously, but in a come-and-go fashion that accepts it lightly?"

As Portia (or whoever it was) remarked, "Much can be said on both sides." For example: Take extracts from a family round table. Setting: Christmas dinner table. A gay party of the night before had been the cause of much fun and laughter, when the oldest broke out:

"Well, Ed, what do you do at your parties at the State College? What do the girls do there—do they pet, and if not are they popular?"

Ed, an athletic senior and a union thinker (refuses to work after hours): "Sure, they don't all. You don't go out just for a necking party, for there are lots of girls you take out and you don't even want to pet. Gemine, if that is all, a girl goes out for, the fellows all get to talking and comparing notes. Too much necking means no steady. You want something else."

The eldest: "But do you mean a steady never does? I'll wager all my Christmas presents there's not a steady in the world who doesn't get some. I'd like to see my girl hold any man long without some. The question in my mind is what's the bait?"

Ed: "When you like a girl, course you want to kiss her. I don't call kissing her four or five times during the evening petting."

"What's your definition?"

"Oh, I mean by the hour."

Aunt B, mid-Victorian and innocence abroad: "Why Fred (a nephew—another collegiate) used to tell me about one of the prettiest and smartest girls in school, who never asked to go out anywhere."

The eldest, interrupting: "Yes, and DID HE TAKE HER OUT?"

Aunt B, "No-o, but she was as pretty and smart as could be. He always admired her."

Dot, the youngest and high school: "Carl says, and Ed does too, that boys don't respect you if you pet."

"What do you think?" she was asked.

"You don't see me going out, do you?"

One historian says that the deluge of blood in Mexico was unnecessary, and that the Spaniards were so imbued with the idea that the Spaniards were in fulfillment of their ancient prophecy, that if Cortez had understood the force of this superstition and assumed the role of a demi-god, the whole Aztec empire would have passed into his hands without a struggle. This argument is not without merit, but it is, nevertheless, purely speculative.

Bill Grimm's Progress H.C. WITWER

"Bill Grimm's Progress" is a picture story by Film Booking Offices of America, Inc. (F. B. O.) of H. C. Witwer's stories of the same name.

SYNOPSIS
Bill Grimm, a taxi-driver of Fairfax Falls, has become very well acquainted indeed with Barbara Baxter, a federal agent whom he helps to capture Jack Fairfax, a wealthy banker, in the act of bootlegging. Fairfax is arrested, but due to Bill's generous pleas and assistance with bail, is let off. Bill comes to New York where he is implicated in a bank robbery, but is cleared through Barbara. Pansy Pilkington, Bill's friend, now in the movies, persuades him to get a job at the studio.

I couldn't find Pansy, but I did excavate her director friend, Mr. Puttee. From then on I had lots of luck and all of it bad!

Mr. Puttee gazed at my taxi as it hypothesized, and then he began to slap his hands together and laugh his head off. He called over his assistant, Joe Closeup, and some more laughter was distributed. The yes-men heard the famous director's guffaws and hastened to perform their duties, rushing up and nodding agreement with everything he said. I think that was the studio where they once shot a guy down in cold blood for saying "No."

"I can see a thousand feet of legitimate hokum in that grotesque conveyance!" chorused Mr. Puttee to a chorus of yesses. "Boy—come here. How much do I have to put on the line for that mechanical box of yours?"

"It's priceless," I said. "But I ain't go with the taxi, and you can have us both for seven-fifty the day and cakes."

I remembered that was the wages Pansy had mentioned.

"Sold!" hollered Joe Closeup. "Report to Joe Closeup at 8 tomorrow morning, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul!"

This, gentle reader, I became a bill-headed actor overnight.

Yoo-hoo, how I paid for that! Of course Barbara was surprised and thrilled. She invited me up for dinner that night to tell her all about it, and I told her most of the day wishing I'd told her the truth. I knew I'd have to supply some details as to what stunts I was going to do for Mr. Puttee, and I also knew that the more I let my imagination loose the worse the show-down would be for me.

Within five minutes after I entered the apartment where Barbara lived with her aunt I thought she was pretty frigid to a gentleman she'd asked to dine. The line which usually made her laugh stopped dismally that night, and my attempts to keep the conversation going were first class failures. Most of Barbara's comments were yes and no and anything but nourishing. Finally she says:

"I met a friend of yours downtown this afternoon."

"Oh—yes," I says, a bit uneasy at her steady gaze. "Pansy's been in New York for quite a while. She's in the movies too. I meant to tell you."

What I did tell Barbara was that it she'd trip over to the studio the next day I'd show her whether I was a "stunt man" or just a extra. She said she'd come and I win a victory which was to nearly cost my life.

Well, after shooting a few scenes in the studio we all dashed down to one of the score of sleepy little villages which dots the shore of Long Island Sound. Mr. Puttee's assistant, Joe Closeup, had pasted a funny mustache on me and made me up to look as tough as a life sentence. I felt like a real trouper which had been in the movies for years, but I'd of felt even better if Mr. Puttee hadn't insisted that Barbara ride in his car going to the town we was to work at. Pansy's feelings was split between anger at Mr. Puttee watching his father like a hawk and enjoyment at me watching him the same way!

The scene was to take place to be shot on the end of a dock and went like this:

Launcelot Fishbaum, the leading man, has hired my comical taxi to catch a boat. We're late, and when we reach the pier I run the taxi right through the gates scattering extras right and left. Then my motor is supposed to stop dead, and I can't get it going again. Launcelot Fishbaum jumps out of the cab in a rage and without paying me rushes to the end of the dock and hires a motor boat to catch the liner he's missed. I got my engine going again and run the cab right to the water's edge on the wharf and stand there hollering for my fare and shaking my fist after him till I'm told to stop. The carpenters had put up a wooden safety barrier so's I wouldn't go off into the water when I run my cab to the edge.

Well, we rehearsed that a half dozen times, and I done fine, according to all accounts. Mr. Puttee had fixed a seat for Barbara near the camera way, forgetting all about the yokes, which had turned out en masse to see a movie being made before their eyes.

With Launcelot Fishbaum inside I run my taxi right through the closed gates of the wharf, missing the extras by dumb luck. As I'm instructed, I pretended the motor went dead on me, and Launcelot got out and ran to get his boat. Immediately I hop back to the wheel of my cab and start after him. I done better than that; I cursed and ran wildly, and I drove the same way. Mr. Puttee howled madly through his megaphone for me to slow up and there was some female shrieks when I bumped Launcelot with the front of my cab. The handsome milk fed leading man leaped nimbly and terrifiedly out of my way, forgetting all about what he was supposed to do, but distinctly remembering to save his life. "Now," I says to myself grimly, "I'll show Barbara Baxter whether I'm a high class stunt man or not!"

With the safety barrier looming up over my mudguards, I stepped on the gas, crashed through it and hurtled myself and my cab to the pier in Long Island Sound. The last thing I heard was Mr. Puttee's delighted voice scream to the camera men to keep on cranking. If you've saw that picture, gentle reader, you know now it wasn't faked!

I came back to life in a hospital, as weak as a drunkard's alibi, and the first mortal I see is Mr. Puttee bending over me.

"How's my taxi?" I whispered faintly, always thinking of others first.

"I'm sorry to say it's dead, my boy," he says, patting my dizzy head. "The unfortunate equipage is lying in fifteen feet of very wet water, and it's useless to grapple for the body. However, I'll see to it that the company rewards you handsomely for the loss of that juggernaut and for giving me five hundred feet of comedy that will knock 'em off their seats! What was wrong—did you lose control of the cab?"

"No," I says, with a feeble grin. "I lost control of myself!"

He was still staring at me and muttering something about me being double-headed, when Barbara and Pansy elbowed him away from my bedside. Then Pansy done a fade-out with Mr. Puttee, who was waiting for her.

"Bill," says Barbara softly as she sits down beside me, "why did you risk your life like that?"

"I told you I was hired to do stunts," I says, feeling like the Patsy in the movies too. I meant to tell you I don't take this thing now I'm going back there and commence diving for my cab!"

She hesitated, but finally slipped the diamond on her finger, but she tried to avoid making it mean anything by remarking nervously that she'd keep it so I wouldn't lose it or try it on any more girls' fingers, like I done with Pansy.

The medico comes along then, and I find I'm only suffering from a wrenched shoulder and being the next thing to drowned, so I ought to be able to leave this trap the next day.

"What will you do then?" Barbara asked me when he passed on.

"I'm going to hunt up Jack Fairfax and get back the two grand I loaned him," I says. "He's probably been staked by his father by now, and with $2,000 I can quit this clowning and make a fresh start."

"Bill," says Barbara, "don't bank too heavily on Fairfax. You should have let him go to jail as I wanted you to do. My superiors have informed me that Fairfax has gone to them with a tale that both you and myself were involved in the bootlegging ring at Fairfax Falls. He declares we simply made him the goat and that was why we both asked clemency for him and you paid his fine!"

Just a nice boy, that Fairfax, what?

King Vidor-John Gilbert. This, the greatest director-star combination the screen has ever known, already responsible for "The Big Parade," and "La Boheme," represents the talent, artistry, and ability of "Bardelys the Magnificent," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture coming to the California theatre starting today.

The picture, one of the most vivid spectacles ever made for the screen, is from Rafael Sabatini's famous story of medieval France. Vidor also figures as an author in the picture version, having, with Dorothy Farnum, adapted the colorful romance to the screen.

Huge castles, great crowd scenes, court functions in gorgeous costumes, all figure in the spectacular part of the picture. The story, conceived to be the master piece of the author of "Scaramouche," "The Sea Hawk," and others, provides an amazing display of Gilbert's versatility. He fights some ferocious duels, for which he trained under the tutelage of an expert swordsman for several weeks; swims a raging river on horseback, pole vaults out of the grasp of his enemies and does a score of other equally dangerous and astounding stunts.

Eleanor Boardman, beautiful holder of the Wampus cup for the most notable screen achievement of the past year, is the leading woman of the production. Other features include a Mutt and Jeff comedy cartoon; "International News"; and Larry Cane in the organ.

Martinez Sells "Hoosgow" To County Board

FOR SALE: ONE LARGE, ROOMY steel barred cell, guaranteed to hold its own against the most determined prisoner. Apply, Board of Supervisors, Martinez. The above advertisement may be seen soon as the result of the sale of the sole jail accommodations provided by the city of Martinez for its unskilled guests. The transaction was made by the board of trustees Monday night.

The cell was purchased by the board of supervisors for $50. The "hoosgow" was maintained in the center of the fire department for several years, but complaint arose from the ribald songs and language that too many prisoners seemed addicted to.

The greater part of the prisoners were confined for drunkenness and firemen complained that they were unable to attend to their duties with the obnoxious and forbidden reminder of outside joviality in their midst.

It is rumored that the prisoners themselves objected to being housed in the fire department and frequently became "burnt up" over the matter.

Persons arrested by municipal officers will hereafter be quartered in the county jail.

Rev. Wilson delivered a sermon at the Sunday services and was well received. He is attending the Baptist Divinity school in Berkeley, and was speaker in the Richmond church by invitation of the pulpit committee of the church.

WOMAN FLAYS HUSBAND IN ASSAULT TRIAL

(By Universal Service)
MODESTO, Feb. 8.—"That's a damn lie," shouted Mrs. W. H. Watson from the witness stand during the preliminary hearing of her husband on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, held in the justice court of W. H. Rice today.

In the next breath she called her husband a "dirty dog" before the court and counsel could admonish her.

At the conclusion of the hearing Watson was held to superior court on $3000 bail, in lieu of which he must remain in jail until the trial.

He is charged with shooting his wife and J. H. Russell, Ceres laborer, for whom she had been keeping house. The shooting occurred about a month ago in Ceres, both Mrs. Watson and Russell receiving wounds in the body and head from a shotgun charge.

Mrs. Watson's outburst from the witness stand was occasioned by a low-voiced conversation in the court room between her husband and Attorney Thomas Anaya, his counsel, which, she said, she overheard.

"I was hungry and destitute, and my husband refused to support me," she said in explaining her reasons why she left her husband's home in Manteca to go to work for Russell in December.

Lopez is charged with having murdered "Jesus Herrera", although members of the family have informed Coroner Aubrey Wilson that Jessie Seirra is the name of the deceased.

Last rites were conducted for Seirra yesterday morning from the Mexican quarter of Richmond. Wilson and Kratzer were in charge. Interment followed in Sunset View cemetery. The date for the inquest has not yet been determined.

PRESIDENT MAY VETO PROPOSED P. I. PLEBISCITE

By JOHN T. LAMBERT
(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Convinced that freedom for the Philippines would plunge them into chaos and endanger their security, President Coolidge is expected to veto the Plebiscite proposed by the Philippine legislature, it was made known today.

The Plebiscite would permit the Filipino people to express their opinion whether they should stay under the care of the United States or be allowed to establish an independent government of their own.

Woods Vetoed It
General Wood vetoed it. The legislature passed it over his veto, it is now on the desk of President Coolidge, whose judgment is final and absolute.

On the matter of Filipino liberty, President Coolidge stands on his strong letter to Speaker Royas of the local house two years ago.

Not Capable
He believes now, as then, that the people have not made the strides in self-government to enable them to carry on as an independent nation.

He believes that ultimate liberty has been pledged them, but that the guiding hand of the United States must be used for years to lead them through the arts of self-government, education, sanitation and kindred necessities left to their own resources, they might become the prey of jealous nations, he is said to feel. Nor would their commerce and business provide them with the funds sufficient for a self-sustaining country. He is said to be pleased with what he regards as the remarkable progress which the Philippines have made since their dominion by Spain was ended.

Coolidge To Consult Wood
President Coolidge would like to consult with General Wood on the plebiscite. But the general is ill and not expected here for many months. So the President is expected to apply the veto to it on his own knowledge of the situation.

Colonel Carmi A. Thompson, now touring the country is understood to be stating his own views, not the President's, on the Philippine situation. Their views are "very close" as a whole, it was said at the White House, but that President Coolidge does not share them all was stated by him in transmitting Colonel Thompson's report to Congress.

Colonel Thompson urges that the archipelago be "taken out from military rule by the United States" and placed under civil authority. President Coolidge feels that some time in the future a civil bureau might be established to administer all the insular possessions, stretching from Alaska to the Philippines.

Frogs And Socks Prove Expensive

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Those frogs Bud Fisher, the cartoonist, kept at his Riverside Drive home, and the socks he playfully applied to Mrs. Fisher's eye—causing her to seek separation—are going to cost the creator of Mutt and Jeff a whole lot of money.

For Supreme Court Justice Tierney today granted Aetna Fisher, former Countess De Beaumont, $29,000 a year permanent alimony following the separation granted Mrs. Fisher February 1.

Bud, whose real name is Harry C. Fisher, didn't wait to hear his wife tell about the frogs he brought home or of the black eyes he gave her between drawing cartoons. He sailed for Europe two weeks ago.

The alimony award was based on Mrs. Fisher's testimony that her husband's facile pen earned him in excess of $250,000 a year, and that his work was circulated in 200 newspapers.

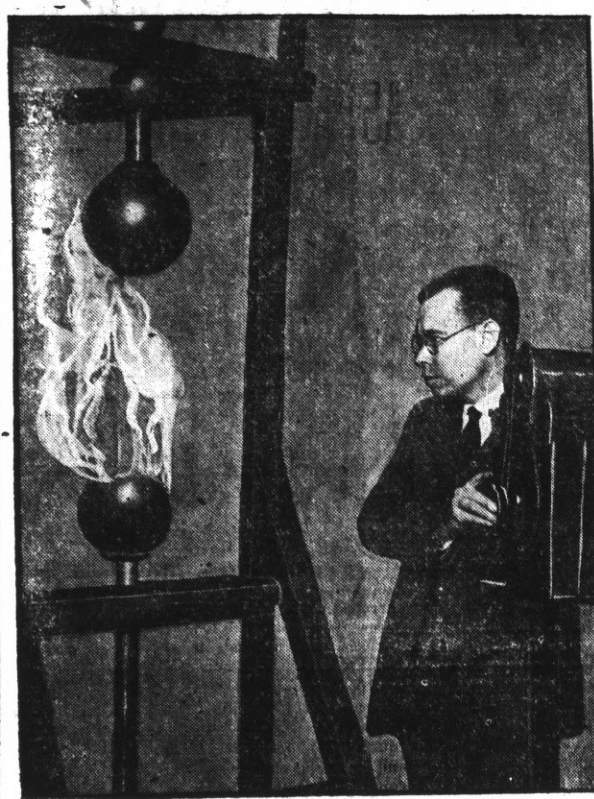

Failure Of Deal Caused Suicide

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Failure of a huge deal involving $5,000,000 caused Edward Webster Wilson to kill himself in the Lotus club on Sunday, George P. Bowman, executor of the late broker's estate, declared today.

"Brilliant business man, tremendous spender, regular fellow" was the way Bowman described Wilson who masqueraded as 65 when his age actually was 31. Wilson was worth $600,000 at the peak of his career, Bowman said, but that was greatly diminished at the time of his death.

DODGE DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF AUTO ACCIDENT

(By Universal Service)

PARIS, Feb. 8.—Horace E. Dodge, Jr., knew nothing about the accident in which Alton A. Brody and Mrs. Dodge were involved last May, until he found himself facing arrest and an immediate prison term of a month. This firm statement, he expressed today, in the face of Mrs. Dodge's declaration, that her husband knew all about the affair including Brody. Mrs. Dodge's statement was vigorously denied tonight by an authorized spokesman for Dodge.

Dodge absolutely refused to be quoted but a close personal friend declared tonight that Dodge was kept in ignorance as to what actually happened until his arrival in Paris three weeks ago. He then learned about the affair when he was about to be arrested.

Dodge hurriedly sent a cable to Mrs. Dodge as follows: "Facing arrest and imprisonment. Don't know what happened. Who was driving car. Who was with you?" January 18, Mrs. Dodge sent the following answer:

Brody Drove Car.
"Steve Brody drove car. Then she added the names of the other occupants of the car, including the sister of Kip Rhinelander. The cable further advised Dodge to get in touch with Christian Gross, who at the time of the accident was the third secretary to the American Embassy at Paris, to whom all the facts were said to be known. Gross has since been appointed American consul to Haiti.

The friend of Dodge declared tonight that Dodge had known for some time that Brody was a friend of Mrs. Dodge but he nevertheless received quite a jolt from Mrs. Dodge's cable in spite of the friendly note at the end. "Children happy, received your letter."

Chicago Store Shows Big Profit

(By Universal Service)

(Special Cable Dispatch.)
LONDON, Feb. 8.—H. Gordon Selfridge, of Chicago, tonight took the usual course of sending to Universal Service the annual financial statement of his store, the biggest in London showing a profit of nearly five million dollars.

In a personal note Selfridge added:

"While the results may seem to you pretty good, showing actually over $150,000 more profit than last year, the real fun to me comes in carrying on the game for I agree with Robert L. Stevenson when he wrote these delightful lines:

"To travel hopefully is better than to arrive and the true success is labor."

Reconciliation Of Prince Carol And Wife Fails

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Universal Service Staff Correspondent
Special Cable Dispatch.

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—The attempted reconciliation between Princess Helen and Prince Carol of Rumania has failed, at least for the time being.

Helen and her five-year-old son, Michael, who were requested by King Ferdinand to return home as soon as possible, arrived in Bucharest today.

Mussolini's offer to mediate between the Princess and her royal husband, on the one hand and between Carol and his father on the other hand, have been rejected by Bucharest.

CAROL ADAMANT
Carol, it is reported, refused to submit to the conditions laid down for his return, adding that above all, as a gentleman he could not and would not abandon Lupescu at this time in her present condition.

Queen Marie, influencing the king on one hand and supported by former Premier Bratianu, the all powerful political boss, on the other hand, is credited with having turned a deaf ear to Carol, temporarily at least.

Unconfirmed talk has it that Bratianu and Premier Averescu in turn will support Marie for the regency in case of the king's death. It is believed Carol now awaits the king's death when his friends may attempt a revolutionary coup d'etat in his favor.

The concentration of troops in Bucharest and in Transylvania is continuing. Troops and large details of police are stationed in the buildings around parliament and in the royal palace.

Censorship Of Magazines Asked

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Seventy magazines were named as undermining the moral fibre of the nation, with their filthy stories and filthy pictures, by Rep. T. Webster Wilson, Dem., of Mississippi, in the House today.

"Let the dirty dog in human form who dares to publish them feel the lash of outraged authority," he shouted.

Passage by Congress of his bill calling for a federal board of magazine censors, was demanded by Wilson. All articles and pictures designed for publication in magazines would have to be submitted to the board for censorship, under the bill, he said.

"If there is sane, vigorous censorship of magazines, the effect will be to cleanse the stage of the filth that prevails upon it today. Stage plays in large part are taken from books and magazines.

"If conditions are not changed, sooner or later this country is going to be forced to invoke federal censorship of the stage. It is high time that the iron hand of the law takes hold of this great evil and throttles it."

HAYWARD AND LOCAL CAGERS PLAY MONDAY

Year in and year out, basketball season in and basketball season out, the Richmond Union high school basketball squads have faced the Hayward Union high cagers in what is generally the best game of the season.

On Monday night Coach Ivan W. Hill's charges will play the Hayward Farmers here at the high school gymnasium.

There will be three games on tap—Unlimited game, B, and C. The C game, in all possibilities will start at 4 o'clock. After this game the teams will be tested at a big banquet in the school cafeteria and at about 7:30 the B teams will mix.

At 9 o'clock the big game will start before what is expected to be the biggest crowd on record.

Friday night the high school also faces stiff games—those with St. Mary's preps of Oakland.

Those games are slated to start at about 7:30.

Hill has been placing his Midgets up against his Varsity for the past two weeks in an effort to pick up a bit of speed. So far this year the local team has not made any records and it appears as if they are lacking in speed. Hill is endeavoring to have his men in the best shape possible for this contest.

Last year the local team won from Hayward by a slight score at Hayward and the 130 pound team lost. The 130 pound team of last year is the unlimited team this year.

Now, if that means anything some of the wise crackers are going to tell the world that the local school will lose.

Maybe they will but Hayward has lost good men too.

It was with a great deal of long distance calling and letter writing before the game was set for Monday night as Hayward has been having a bit of trouble in arranging its schedule this year.

This is going to be a hard week for the local squads.

DEMPSEY

Jack Dempsey, who has been confined to his home in Los Angeles with a severe attack of blood poisoning, is reported to be better and will be out next week. The ex-champion has been able to sit up in his bed for the first time since last Sunday and the swelling in his left hand has almost disappeared.

OAKS

The Oakland baseball club will leave for its spring training camp at Myrtlebeach, S. C., Monday, according to reports made by the owners of the club. Four members of the club have not signed their contracts. Doehler, a pitcher, Buzz Arlett, Lyn Lary and Jimmie Reese. It is reported that Arlett is willing to sign on the dotted line.

BERLENBACH

"Oom Paul" Berlenbach, former world light heavyweight champion who was recently beaten by Mike McTigue in four rounds, announced his retirement from the ring yesterday to enter the lumber business. "The Astoria Assassin" belted his way from the amateur ranks to a world championship in five years.

FIGHTS

Young Harry Wills and Jimmy Duffy may meet at the Oakland auditorium on Tuesday night, February 15, instead of the regular Wednesday night. When Wills returned to Los Angeles he signed to box Lew Tender on February 22 and there is a boxing commission rule prohibiting boxers from engaging in two main events within seven days. Thus the change in date.

BASEBALL

Charles "Whitey" Glazner, veteran right-handed pitcher who was purchased from the Philadelphia Nationals two seasons ago has been sold by the Los Angeles ball club of the Pacific Coast League to the Mobile Southern Association.

Duty On German Pig-Iron May Be Increased Soon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Coolidge has decided to make an exhaustive study of the tariff commission's recommendation for an increased duty of German pig iron before putting it into effect. It was announced at the White House today. Pennsylvania industrialists had complained that Germany was capturing their market.

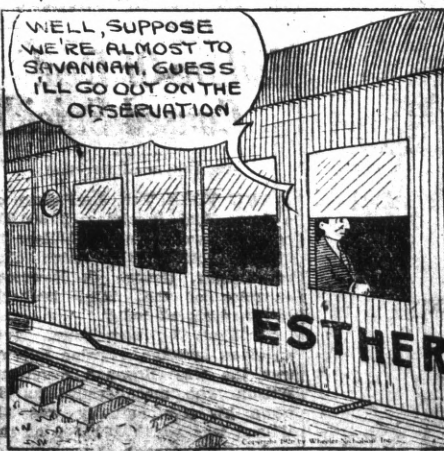

The president will send the tariff report to the commerce department to ascertain if a higher tariff would disturb commerce between the United States and Germany. He will send it later to the treasury department to ascertain its effect upon tariff revenue.

POLICE SLAYER KILLED IN DUEL

(By Universal Service)
OLD FORGE, N. Y., Feb. 8.—Walter "Whitey" Tipping, sought as the slayer of Patrolman James Masterson in a New York restaurant holdup on January 31, was killed here today while resisting arrest in a gun battle with Detective Thomas Martin.

Peter Seiler, also wanted in connection with the Masterson murder, was captured and a woman who said she was Grace Patterson, found to have been living with Tipping, was taken to New York for questioning.

Tipping was trailed to his secluded farm house retreat on the outskirts of this Adirondacks village by Martin and three other New York police department detectives accompanied by two state troopers.

Mineral Water Bottlers May Go On Strike

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Night-rounder along Broadway may have to drink their liquor straight (the Mineral Water Workers' Union) warned today, in threatening a general strike of 2,500 operatives. The union demands a 44-hour week and a $5 per week increase in wages. Prohibition has not lessened the demand for highballs, the union's ultimatum points out.

officers when they battered down the door. The house was surrounded cutting off all escape. Martin gained his way to a room occupied by Tipping and exchanged shots. Martin was wounded slightly in the right wrist. A bullet found its way to Tipping's temple. Martin fired five times and Tipping three. Seiler was taken without a struggle.

Bill Seeks To Keep Foreign Nations Out Of Politics In U. S.

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Foreign powers, corporations and individuals would be prevented from dipping into American politics under two bills introduced in the Senate today by Senator Harry B. Hawes of Missouri.

One would prohibit candidates for Congress or president, or political committees representing them, from accepting contributions from foreign nations or aliens. A penalty of two years imprisonment or $2,000 fines, or both, is attached to both bills.

The other bill is designed to prevent, directly or indirectly, legislation in Congress by contributions to interested persons. This measure would have a direct bearing on the charge that a jackpot was being raised in Germany to secure the enactment of the alien property bill, returning seized German property to its owners.

Two Way Taps Used To Fool Custom Officers

(By Universal Service)
VANCOUVER, Feb. 8.—Trick taps that fooled customs officers right before their eyes while alcohol was drawn off vinegar making mixtures into drums concealed beneath tanks were revealed during the customs probe at Regina when William Simpson, an employee of the Regina Vinegar Works, stated that through these taps as well as barrels cleverly hidden in the vinegar mixture, the customs had been defrauded of large sums.

The excise on alcohol used for vinegar is only 27 cents a gallon while the charge on alcohol used for beverages is $10.

Simpson stated that the manipulation of the two-way taps and the operation of the hidden barrels were carried out by Zizu Nathanson, president of the company now in jail for perjury.

ROLL a cigarette with good old Prince Albert and you'll know why I prefer this tobacco above all others. Better tobacco — better makin's, that's the net of it. Why, the minute you get that wonderful P. A. fragrance, you know P. A. makes a great cigarette.

The smoke this cigarette sends out is equally fragrant . . . fragrant and refreshing as a breeze through an orchard in blossom-time. Cool and sweet and mellow, yet with that full, rich tobacco body that puts satisfaction into every puff. A cigarette, Fellows!

Get some Prince Albert today and get rolling. You'll start in the minute you've brushed your teeth and roll 'em and smoke 'em all day long. No matter how satisfied you think you are now, take this from me: You don't know what you're missing if you don't know P. A.

And all that I have said about P. A. for home-rolled cigarettes goes for jimmy-pipes as well. Even the pipe-shy and the pipe-perplexed have settled on P. A. and are getting solid satisfaction, day in and day out. No bite. No parch. Pleasure Always!

Will Enjoy a Happy New Year Blood Test Shows Negative

Dec. 28, 1926.
At the beginning of last summer my blood test showed two positives; that is two x's. It had previously been four x's (positives).

After I failed to get relief of my symptoms of hypodermic shots I decided to give the Fong Wan Herbs a trial. I drank the herbs for only one month. Nevertheless when I had a blood test taken again on Dec. 24, 1926, the test showed negative. So my blood is thoroughly cleansed and is O. K. at last. I shall certainly enjoy a Happy New Year. Because of my gratitude for the Fong Wan Herbs Treatment, I am glad to give this testimonial.

POISON LIQUOR AND GAS KILLS FOUR IN SOUTH

(By Universal Service.)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—Poison liquor and the fumes of the deadly carbon monoxide gas combined to snuff out the lives of two men and two women whose bodies were found today in a bungalow at 1950 East one hundred and fifth street.
The dead are:
Joseph L. Winters, 36, electrical engineer and owner of the dwelling.
Ralph W. Sperry, 25, interior decorator.
Ruby Walton, 22, a nurse.
Mary V. Kistler, 25.
The victims, fully clad, were found in the sitting room of the bungalow. One woman was clasped in his arms and the other lay upon a couch. The body of Sperry was sprawled on the floor. Police who broke into the house after neighbors became suspicious of its silence found empty glasses and a partly drained bottle of liquor in the room. A gas heater, with the jet open but unlabeled, was pouring its lethal odor from an adjoining room. All the windows were tightly closed.
Hasty analysis of the liquor showed it to be bootleg moonshine and probably poisonous. Officers believe that the four were first overcome by the liquor, whose deadly work was completed by the gas fumes. The quartet had been dead three days, police said.

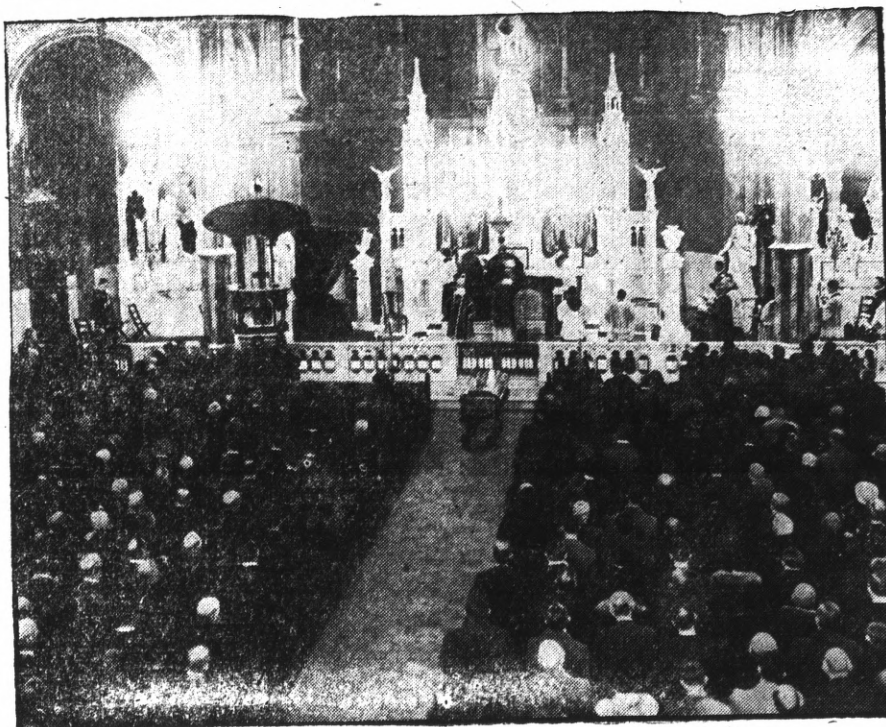

Coolidge Rejects Plans For U. S. Of Central America

(By Universal Service.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Coolidge today rejected the proposal of Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota that the Central American republics be called to organize a confederacy for their own protection.
Senator Shipstead's suggestion that they form a United States of Central America to legislate upon their own difficulties and problems regarded by the president as one of the most interesting solutions yet proposed.
But the initiative should come from the countries themselves, he believed. He is extremely doubtful that progress toward it could be made. While a revolution is on in any of the states, like Nicaragua.

Christmas Mail On Way To North

(By Universal Service.)
VANCOUVER, Feb. 8.—Fighting fiercely over the 1666 Arctic miles that separate Edmonton from the far north a Royal Canadian mounted police detachment is still struggling valiantly to deliver to the Arctician his Christmas Mail.
The thing, in reality, the men, according to radio messages to Edmonton are negotiating by dog sled and with great difficulty the dangerous trails often piled high with snow drifts.
First winter mail for Arctic left Edmonton in November and has not yet been received.
The bodies were removed to the county morgue pending an inquest.

Statement That Coolidge Will Not Run Causes Capitol Gossip

Some doubt exists here, however, as to whether Dr. Butler expressed merely his own opinion in the matter of Coolidge's candidacy, or spoke for any considerable number of Empire state Republicans. If the latter be true, considerably more weight will be attached to his statement than if he spoke as an individual.

Outstanding among the comments of the day was that by Senator Borah, which was in the form of an open letter to Dr. Butler, challenging his stand on the prohibition question. Borah told Butler that his statement was "timely," but demanded a definite declaration from him as to whether he believed the Republican party should stand for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law.

Clear Cut Issue Asked
Borah then proposed that a clear cut issue on prohibition should be made in the next campaign and that delegates to the national convention should be chosen in a nation-wide referendum in which the rank and file of the party might express itself for or against enforcement or modification of the law.

Inasmuch as Borah has been flirting with the dry element in the Republican party, ostensibly with a view to becoming a dry candidate for President, his proposal to Butler is regarded as a virtual toss of the Borah hat into the presidential contest. This is made plain in the following paragraph in Borah's letter.

"Speaking for myself, I am willing to go into the respective states to assist in presenting this matter directly to the people who are to elect the delegates. In order to do this effectively, the issue must be framed. I think your speech is timely. I shall contribute in every way I can to force the issue to a final conclusion in the next convention. I shall be glad to meet with you and those who take your view of the matter at any time after the fourth of March for the purpose of defining the issue and arranging for the campaign in which this matter may be presented to the voters of the party who will select the delegates to the convention."

Sentor Moses put himself in the "I-told-you-so" class by saying:
"I have been saying for two years that President Coolidge would not run for a third term. I based my opinion on the same reasons given by Dr. Butler and other fundamental reasons not stated by Dr. Butler. Of course, I do not assume to speak for the President and am not voicing the sentiments of my state for we are for Coolidge."

Coolidge Sure
Senator Gillett, a strong administration supporter, asserted that President Coolidge is sure of another term in the White House if he wants it, adding:
"I have not the least idea how the President feels on this subject, for he has never even indirectly intimated to me that he would accept another nomination. But it looks to me as if the people are so satisfied that they will insist upon his re-election. Dr. Butler's assertion that he could not be elected is as mistaken and prejudiced and baseless as his accompanying assertion that only a wet candidate can be elected."

The senate debate was started by Senator Neely, Democrat, of West Virginia, who remarked that "maple syrup and buck-wheat cakes" would be substituted for "tempting beverages" if a "wet" succeeds Coolidge in the White House.

This prompted Senator King, Democrat of Utah, to remark that "we have had enough of New England statesmanship," but modifying this statement upon observing that Senator Moses, Republican of New Hampshire, was occupying the vice-president's chair.
"Of course I don't mean all New England statesmanship," he hastily added. "Take the senator from New Hampshire; he would make a better president than many senators in either party."

Senator King also suggested that Senator Wadsworth of New York would be "another good Republican candidate," adding:
"But what we really need in the White House is a sturdy, rugged, states' rights Democrat." Lowden Crittles Farm Relief
On top of it all, Frank C. Lowden, of Illinois, thrust himself into the picture by sending a telegram, sharply criticizing the Curtis-Cripe Farm Relief bill, which the administration favors, and endorsing the McNary-Haugen bill, which the senate is preparing to pass. Senator Foss has informed the senate that if the McNary-Haugen bill is passed, President Coolidge will veto it, so it looks as if the Lowden forces are getting ready for a skirmish with the President on the issue of farm relief.

Boy Jumps From Roof; Hurts Knee

Herman Keltz, 13 year old boy, 2556 Garvin avenue, from knee injuries suffered in a jump from a roof near his home. Dr. L. C. Abbott, attending the boy reports that he will probably be confined to his home for a month.
The boy's mother, Mrs. W. V. Keltz, reported that Herman had climbed to the roof after a tennis ball. He thought his way clear to jump to the ground but noticed his four year old sister, Inez standing directly below him. He threw himself to one side to avoid striking her. The ligament of the knee was strained and the member was sprained and badly bruised.

BUSINESS AND CHURCH TITLE OF PARR TALK

Fred D. Parr, head of the Parr Terminal corporation, addressed the Goodfellowship club of the First Presbyterian church on the topic "The Church a Place in The Business Life of Today" at the meeting of the club in the church parlors last night.
"In business life and in home life, we need the church as never before," Parr declared. "Leaders in charitable and benevolent work are aspired by the church and its ideals. We would not live in Richmond were it not for the influence exerted by church leaders and church people."

Parr also showed stereopticon slides of the Good Will mission in San Francisco. The pictures depicted work among the down and out of the city.

John A. Long, president, presided at the session. P. M. Sanford was chairman of the day. An enjoyable program was given by artists obtained for the occasion. A. S. Marshall sang two song numbers and Mrs. C. W. St. John gave a piano solo.

Following the program officers to head the club during the year were selected. They were: Charles W. St. John, president; Dr. W. M. Bullock, vice-president; John A. Long, secretary; Jack Lee, treasurer. Directors installed were: Charles W. St. John, Dr. W. W. Gibbons, J. L. Burns, W. A. Boone, D. W. Hauser.

Notorious Liquor Law Violator Is To Be Deported

(By Universal Service.)
MODESTO, Feb. 8.—Pete Fontana, Stanislaus county's most notorious liquor law violator, according to authorities, is going to leave the United States for ever. Appearing before Superior Judge J. C. Needham today Fontana through his counsel, Attorney T. B. Scott, informed the court he was ready to take himself and family to his native land, Italy. Scott told the court that Fontana had secured his passports and transportation on a steamer leaving New York March 1, and that he would leave Modesto February 18, for San Francisco, to receive final clearance papers there.
The judge, with this understanding, held up three charges of possession, sale and transportation of liquor and a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Coolidge Withdraws Tison Appointment

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Yielding to vigorous opposition, President Coolidge today withdrew his appointment of William J. Tison to be United States Judge for the middle district of Georgia.
The action was taken after Tison's brother, representative John Q. Tison of Connecticut, republican floor leader of the house, advised the president that confirmation could not be obtained in the senate. The Judiciary committee had already voted to report the nomination unfavorably.
